Get acces to Twitter APIs

You need to create Twitter applications, so called 'apps', to access Twitter APIs. There are two options for you:

Option 1: Get access as a course student

As a course instructor, I can give you an access during the course. Note that this access is limited to the course period.
- Prepare a valid Twitter account Twitter.com
- Email notification from Twitter must be enabled.

Let me know your @handle of your account via e-mail so that I can give you an access.

Option 2: Get access by creating your own developer account

- Prepare a valid Twitter account Twitter.com
- Apply developer account developer.twitter.com
  Note that reviewing process usually takes couple of days to weeks

Tips for applying developer account

1. Sign in -> [Apply]

2. Select [I am requesting access for my own personal use] and fill out other information required.

Tips

You need to answer what exactly you are going to do with Twitter APIs. I recommend you answer these questions as specific as possible to ensure you can get approve in a timely manner. For example..

  (x) I am using APIs for academic research
  (0) I am studying information spread in online social media. I am using APIs only for obtaining tweets by using REST API...

Clearly state that you will not violate any rules using the APIs.
